How Does the Hewelth ThermaEase Pro Work?

Hewelth ThermaEase Pro uses a mix of targeted heat therapy and vibration massage to ease tension and help muscles heal.

The carbon fiber heating parts are built-in and spread heat evenly over the neck and shoulders, getting as hot as between 113°F and 149°F.

This constant heat makes blood flow better, makes things less stiff, and helps the body get rid of pain in a natural way. The pulse vibration feature makes the massage effect feel like it's from a professional by further improving circulation and easing pressure spots.

Users can make their therapy experience unique by choosing from three heating levels and three shaking strengths.

The ergonomic shape fits easily against the body, and the soft fleece material keeps you cozy, even if you wear it for a long time.

Just plug it in with a USB, put it around your neck, and enjoy a quick wave of warmth and relaxation. You don't need to make an appointment, use lines, or have heavy equipment.
